WELCOME TO THE SHOW, Knights.

This is OUR Oscar-worthy year.

Our high school careers were put on pause as we learned in trailers and online.

After a long intermission, we are back and better than ever.

This was our time to finally press play and get back into the classroom.

This year was action-packed.

Everything from sports to clubs to classes were back in full swing.

Now it's time to open the curtains and showcase a new beginning.

We are ready to put on a show, so grab some popcorn and get ready for Knights, Camera, ACTION.

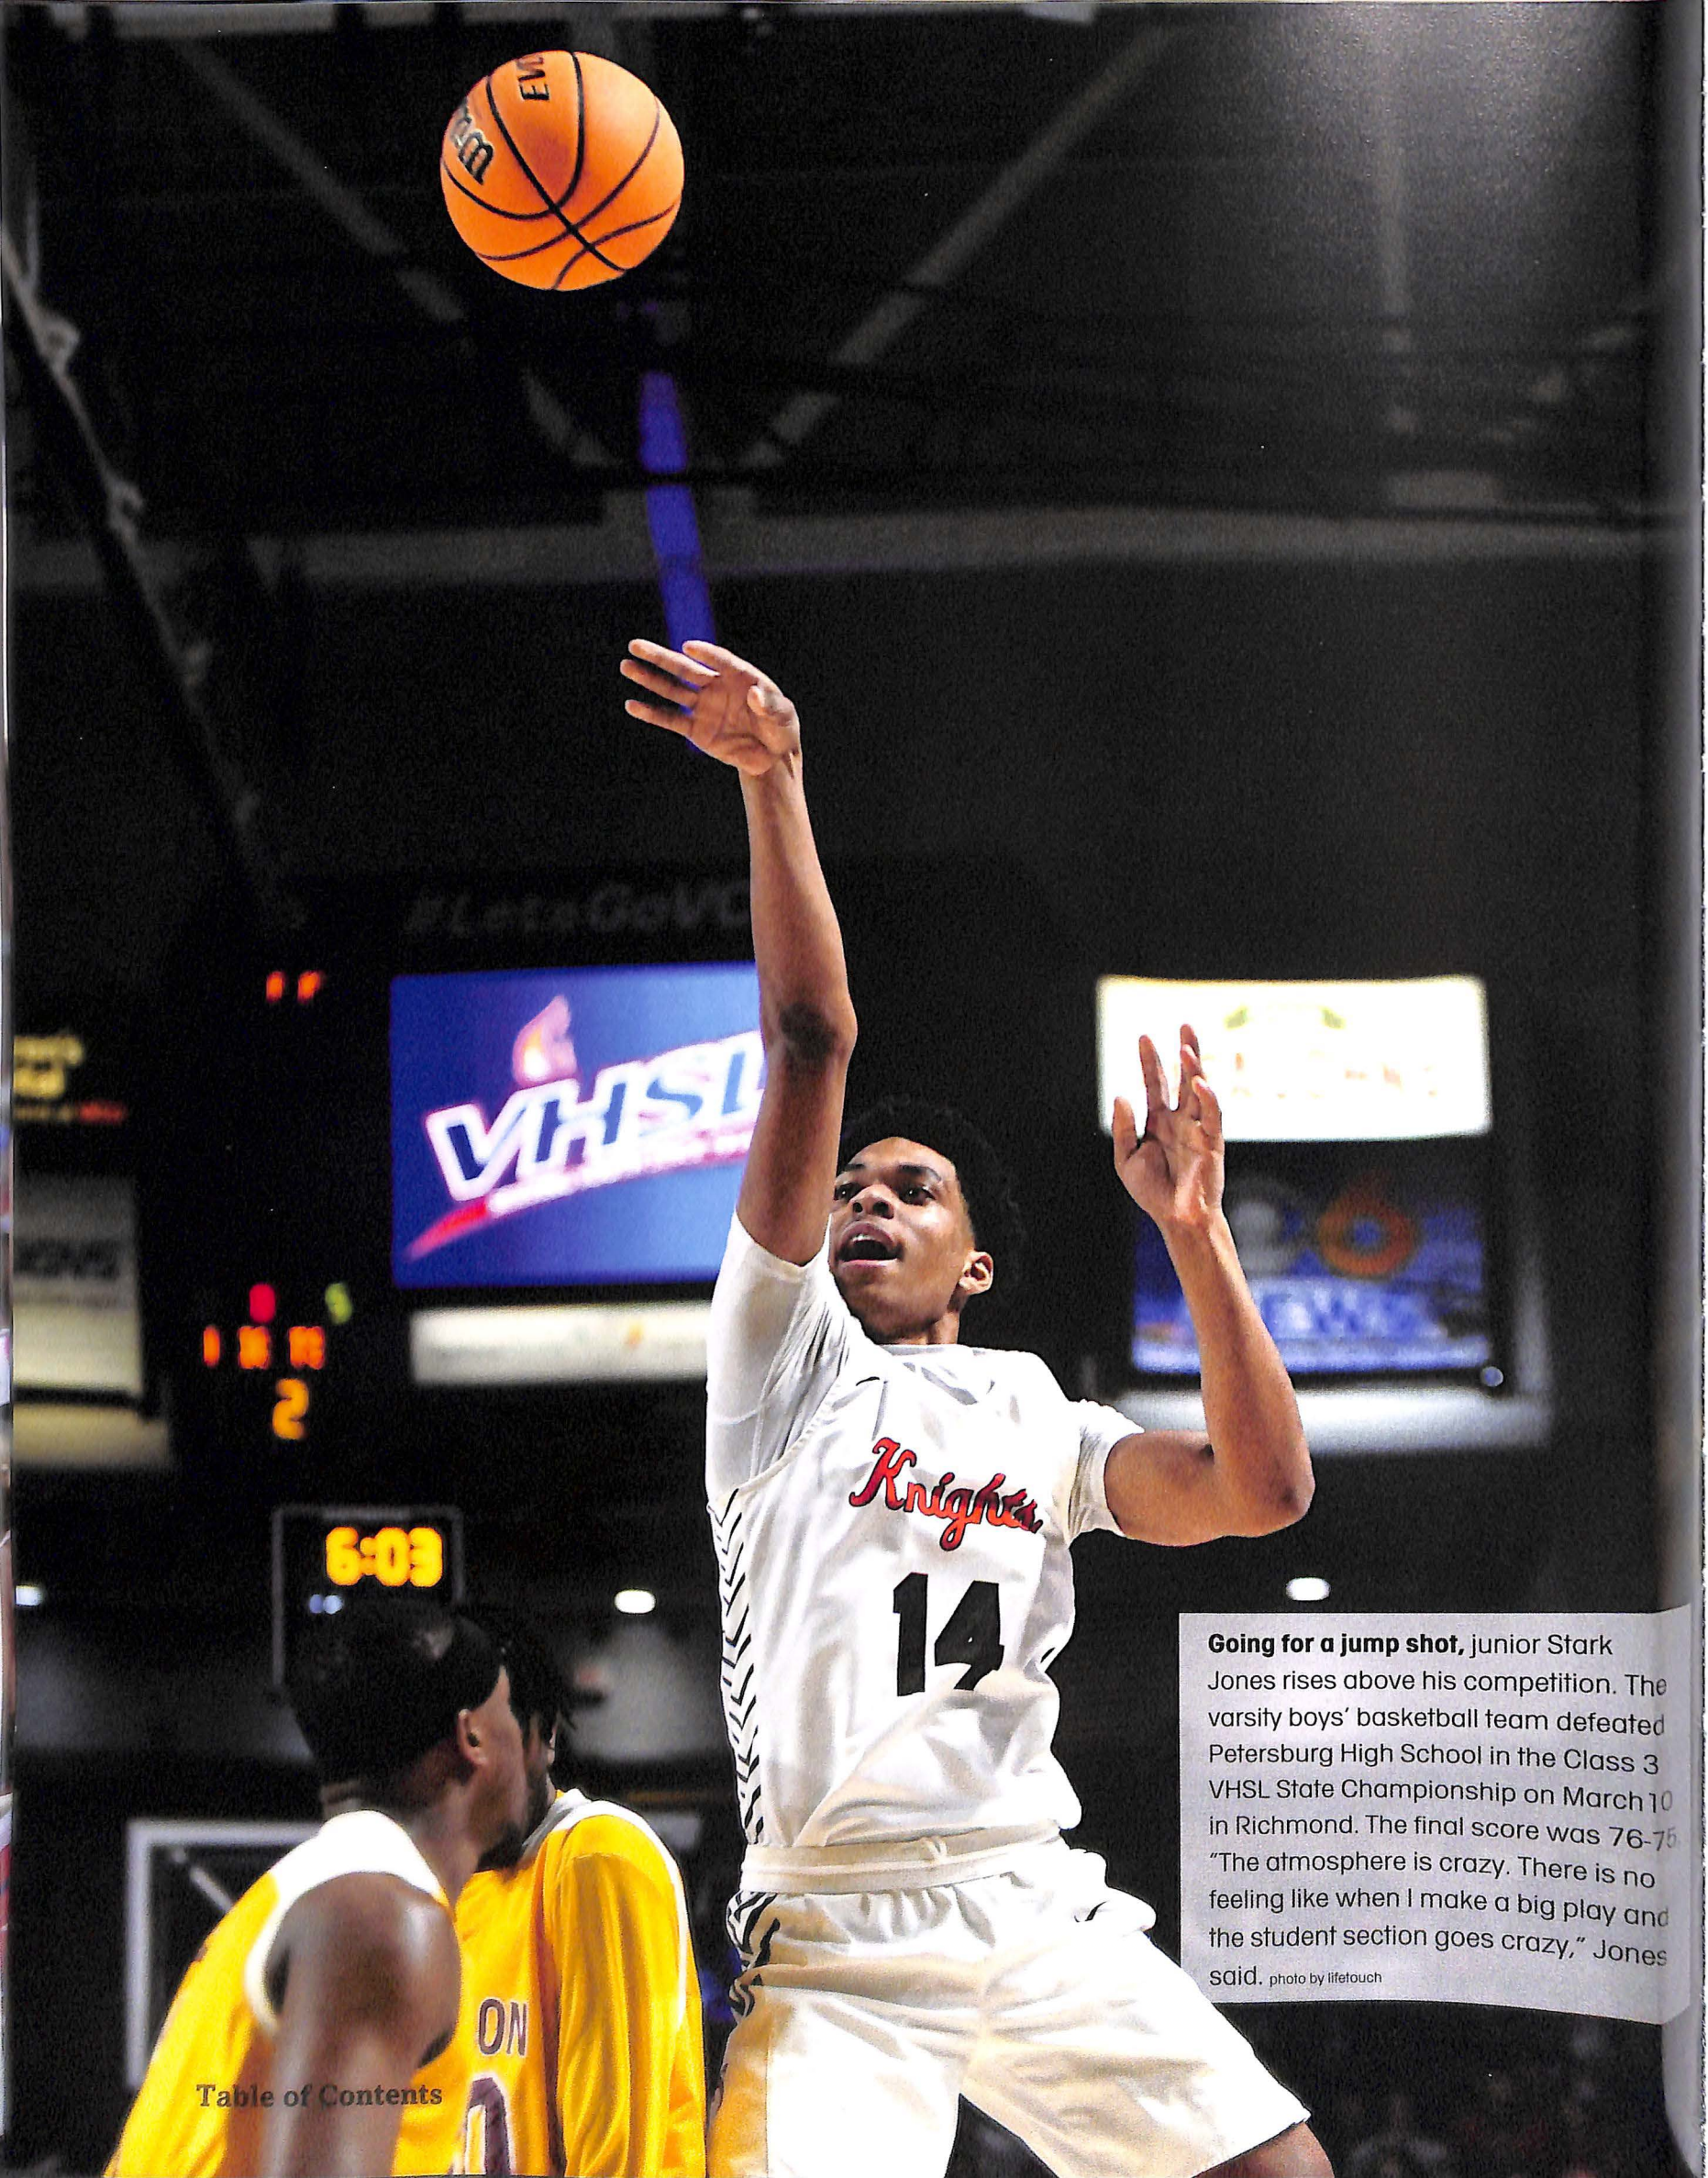

Cheering on the football team, the student section shows their support in a sea of red, white and blue. The student section was an integral part of the energy brought to each game. With enthusiasm and on-theme outfits, the student section urged the football team on to a 48-8 win against Alleghany High School on September 17. photo by lifetouch

Leading the band, senior Jack Horton enthuses the crowd and band members. Being in band helped Horton make friends and connections. "The atmosphere of a game is exciting and everyone is happy to be there. It's an uplifting atmosphere. No matter how bad the day was before that, we were excited to be there," Horton said. photo by k. shaywitz

Going for a jump shot, junior Stark Jones rises above his competition. The varsity boys' basketball team defeated Petersburg High School in the Class 3 VHSL State Championship on March 10 in Richmond. The final score was 76-75. "The atmosphere is crazy. There is no feeling like when I make a big play and the student section goes crazy," Jones said. photo by lifetouch

Mrs. Haley Deeds got hired at Cave Spring in 2017.

She began her career at the school as an assistant principal with former principal Mr. Steven Spangler. This year was her first year serving as principal.

With this new status came a lot of fresh ideas and new capabilities. Over the summer Mrs. Deeds worked hard to design and distribute a spirit shirt to every student. "I want every student regardless of socioeconomic status to have a school shirt. We want to work on school spirit and one way to do that is through merchandise," Deeds said.

She also put in effort to implement a new program at the school called PBIS (Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports). This program is intended to promote a positive school culture and self-accountability. "We want to make sure every single student feels safe and welcome here," Deeds said.

Student voice was also a main focus for Principal Deeds in her first year. She wants every student's voice to be valued. She hopes to encourage students to use their voice and speak up. content by s.manico

Our New Lead

Someone to look up to

The Knighting Ceremony was one of the first major events to kick off the year. As is tradition, one senior student of strong characteristics was selected to represent the school as the Knight. This student was first nominated by their peers. Then, a faculty vote made the final decision.

Senior Bryce Cooper was honored as the 62nd Knight. Cooper, a three-sport athlete and motivated scholar, hoped he would inspire underclassmen to be themselves in his new role. "It is an honor to be named Knight and represent the school," Cooper said. content by k. shaywitz and t. hilovsky

Supporting Cast

The senior cheerleaders have a very important new role to play in the Knighting Ceremony.

RISING STARS

Inspired by their predecessors, these two students aspire to be the future Knight.

Swearing in the Knight for the first time, Principal Mrs. Haley Deeds ushers in new student leadership. "To be a Knight you have to have pride, not only pride in your school but pride in yourself. You also need to be honest and willing to help others," Deeds said.

"I want to make a difference in my community and create a positive change in the way my peers and even teachers view the importance of education."

Ava Livingston, 9

"I want to be able to represent my class as well as our dedication and ability to preserve through hardships."

Andrew Browning, 9

Taking their new role in stride, senior cheerleaders Caroline Mills, Lauren Fradette, Siera Hartman, Abigail Holbrook, Kirsten McKinney and Burkley Nichols stand on stage and escort the Knight through the halls. The Knight's parade through the hallways was a new tradition added by Principal Mrs. Haley Deeds. "It was such a cool experience to be able to escort one of my best friends to the stage to receive such a rewarding title," said Caroline Mills.

Marching to the Beat

photos by s. manico

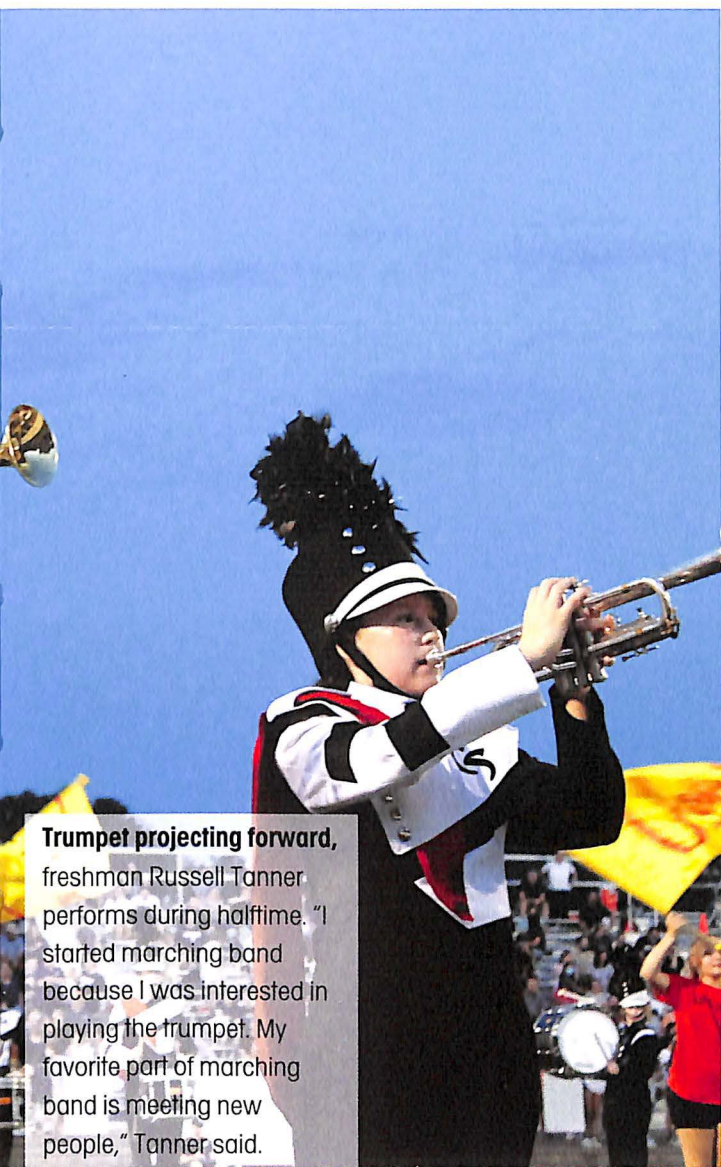

Waving her flag, sophomore Paige Walters performs during halftime. "My favorite part of color guard is the close sisterhood between the guard members and how by the end of the season we all become best friends. We get to know the band and form close relationships with them as well. The uniforms and beautiful flags are also a plus," Walters said.

DIRECTING THE SHOW

Perched on his podium, Mr. Brian Quakenbush conducts the marching band. Mr. Quakenbush has been a band director 27 years. "The kids really wanted this year to be memorable, so they bought into the show ideas and practiced hard to get our victories. Our leadership stepped up as well. Everyone was ready to get back to performing and playing at football games again too. We made every effort to keep energies high as we focused on every aspect of our marching season," Quakenbush said.

Trumpet projecting forward, freshman Russell Tanner performs during halftime. "I started marching band because I was interested in playing the trumpet. My favorite part of marching band is meeting new people," Tanner said.

Cheering on her team, freshman Claire Holton dances to the band's music. Claire started color guard her eighth grade year. "I love color guard because you're not only working towards helping the color guard become better, but also helping the band become better as a whole," Holton said.

With his hands outstretched, senior Jack Horton directs the marching band during halftime. "This is my first year being drum major. I was first inspired to become drum major in eighth grade. It was one of my biggest dreams to be a drum major. I want to pursue marching band in college at Virginia Tech," Horton said.

Looking across the field, sophomore Hailey Lipscomb serves as drum major for the marching band. The drum majors are in charge of keeping the time and conducting the band. "I enjoy getting to know the whole band. I love being that one person everyone can come to if they need help," Lipscomb said. content by s.manico and I swanson

Reversing THE ROLES

At the annual powderpuff game, the juniors faced off against the seniors. The girls took on football, while the boys cheered them on from the sidelines.

Sprinting to the end zone, junior Morgan Allardi carries the ball passed by junior Abby Smith. The junior team came out on top, defeating the senior team. "It was a diverse group of people that came together and supported each other," Allardi said.

Posing for the camera, seniors Blake Bowls, Seth Poulsen, Henry Ton, Skylor Carroll, Colin Doyle and Mark Dellinger gather around senior Taylor Hlovsky after cheering for their powderpuff team. "Powderpuff was ridiculous, I would never usually do something like this but it was really fun," Dellinger said.

No Place like HOME

It was one of the biggest football games of the year. The crowd was energized in the stands. Although two starters were injured, the team kept on fighting. The Knights defeated Alleghany with a final score of 48-8. They celebrated their first win with new head coach Mr. Nick Leftwich. Seniors Jesse Monsour and Skylor Griffiths, sophomores Owen Sweeney and Charlie Parker and freshman Jackson Steffen contributed to the major lead. Senior Sam Smith said, "We got the execution done tonight. It feels good." content by m.dinakin

Ready to go, sophomore Avery Smillie waits for a play to start. The tension was high and the crowd was loud. "Football has taught me so many life lessons I carry with me everyday," Smillie said.

The Audience

Hands up and smile on, senior Idaraesit Ndem cheers from the student section. The student section dressed up for the homecoming game in USA colors. "I love going to the games, because there's so much energy in the student section and I love supporting our team," said Ndem.

Startled by the big lead, freshman Mia Hylton reacts along with the student section. "I loved watching this football game because it was entertaining and it made me want to jump up and down," Hylton said.

Homecoming court receives their crowns

"Over the years, homecoming has been very different. Personally, I was just excited to have a regular homecoming again."
Taylor Hilovsky, 12

"I felt really proud to be recognized by our student body. Being named homecoming prince is definitely something I'm proud of."
Ryan Lucas, 12

"Being elected was really fun. Homecoming week is my favorite time of the year and it just a very fun experience, whenever we get to do it."
Elizabeth Moore, 12

"Being elected was cool. The football team and I killed it on the field and then enjoyed the show afterwards."
Samuel Smith, 12

Homecoming HIGHLIGHTS

Holding their flags, the color guard parades down Chaparral Drive. Sophomore Rose Berry led the march past the crowd. "My favorite part of guard is the bonds that we've created and how accepting the group is to everyone. I also just really love performing and getting better," Berry said.

The events surrounding the homecoming game signaled a return to normalcy. In the week leading up to the game, spirit days kicked off each day with creative outfits. The homecoming parade was held on September 18. The homecoming court led the procession. Themed class floats followed closely behind. Clubs and sports decorated their own floats. The marching band and color guard entertained the crowd of supporters as they marched through the streets. content by m. dinakin, n. join and c. frible

Getting the Shot

Utilizing the good outdoor lighting, senior Bradley Looney posts an outfit picture for his Instagram (@bradley_looney). Looney described his aesthetic as "minimal, high fashion, like an off duty model." He cited Emma Chamberlain (@emmachamberlain) as an inspiration.

Taking pictures of his friends downtown, senior Colin Doyle has a photography Instagram (@cdoyle.photography) account where he posts his artistic captures. Doyle got started an Instagram in 2014 and uses the account to show his creative side. "I use Photoshop to edit my photos, but I'm going to start using Lightroom," Doyle said.

Filming a TikTok out in the sun, sophomore Santiago Rodriguez maintains his extremely successful account. Rodriguez said, "My experience on TikTok has been great since I get to post content that makes me and others happy while getting noticed by big creators on TikTok and YouTube. One of my biggest recognitions was Gloom, a YouTuber with 6.88M subscribers who reacted to one of my videos."

Sophomore Ava Giannini runs her own art account on Instagram (@endeavor.art_). She made the account "for fun but also for business since I take commissions and make some money off of that." Giannini said she hopes to gain more recognition for her digital works.

Creating Connections

Spending her day at the beach, junior Amber Mullins poses for a photo with a friend. Mullins described her aesthetic as "outdoorsy" and said she uses Lightroom to edit and enhance her photos. "My main influence is Isabella Mathers, she's a model, and that's what I want to do," Mullins said.

Experimenting with a new eye look, senior Lauren Fradette (@laurenfradette) poses for her senior pictures. Fradette said she enjoys "being able to see what everyone is doing, especially friends that have gone off to college or even friends that she has met through social media." She cited influencer Lexi Hidalgo (@lexxhidalgo) as an inspiration because she is "genuine."

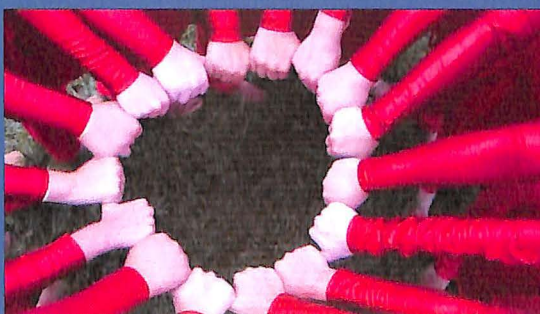

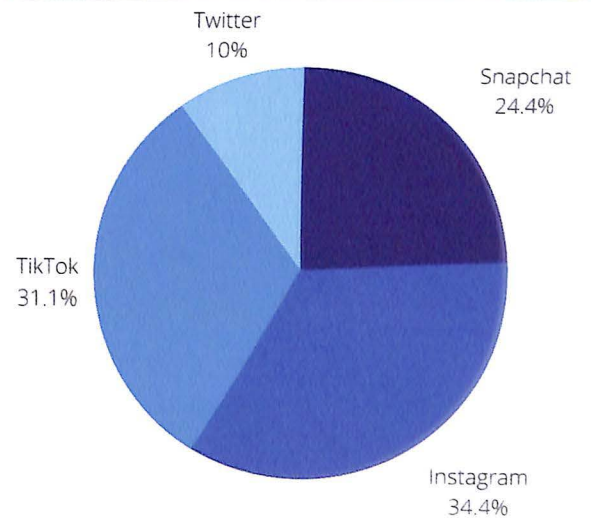

Perched on her friend's shoulders, sophomore Eliza Dmochowski (@lizadmo) has a flourishing Instagram. Dmochowski used Instagram as a way of documenting her memories. She described her posts as having a "bright, sunny look."

With all hands in for a color guard photo, freshman Isabella Durica (@isabelladurica) creates a shot for her Instagram. Durica said her main goal with her Instagram is to spread positivity to those around her and share experiences. When asked if she could go anywhere and post about her experience, Durica said, "I would go to Greece. It's beautiful out there. It's so peaceful too, and the water is really blue." content by g. reed and j. snyder

Arms extended, sophomores Raegan Shively and Daniela Dinsmore complete a cheer during the homecoming game. "I enjoy getting hyped up and seeing all the energy at home football games," said Shively.

Captains Speaking

A captain's job is to lead and support their team. The varsity football team had 4 captains: seniors Samuel Smith and Bryce Cooper, junior Landon Altizer and sophomore Preston Lonker. "Football is important to me because it has shaped me into the person I am today. It has taught me so many valuable life lessons that I will use for the rest of my life," said Smith.

The varsity sideline cheer team had 3 captains: seniors Lauren Fradette, Abigail Holbrook and Burkley Nichols. "It was an honor to be chosen by my teammates and coaches this year to be captain of the varsity sideline team alongside my co-captains. Being able to serve as a captain has always been a dream of mine, and getting to lead my team has been such an exciting experience," said Fradette.

Stepping into a NEW ROLE

The football team had a fresh start with new leadership. Head Coach Mr. Nick Leftwich encouraged a new mindset for the team. "This is a group of young men who are investing themselves in becoming tougher, more physical and a more successful football team. This group stays hungry and is not satisfied with mediocrity. I am proud of the steps we've taken so far, but we are far from finished," said Leftwich. content by s.manico and l.swanson

Right leg extended, sophomore Owen Sweeney kicks the ball in for an extra point. As a wide receiver and kicker, he scored 6 touchdowns and 10 extra points.

TEE UP

Scouting out the course, freshman Rio Rupert plans his next hit. The golf team competed on their home course at Hunting Hills. With victory close, sophomore Nate Faulkner walks the course after his recent hit. "I've been playing golf for six years. I like it because it's versatile. You can play by yourself or with your friends or teammates," Faulkner said. Focusing up, freshman Precilia Kinsley lines up for her next swing. "This season i was able to connect with my team. We became close by the end of the season. I also lowered my personal score by 15 points," Kinsley said.

Volleyball, golf and cross country teams challenge themselves

Working together, juniors Ava Luckey and Cacy Caldwell block a hit from Salem. On October 14, the volleyball team defeated the Spartans 3-2.

photos by s.manico

Serving up the ball, senior Ashley Ditmore starts the next volley with a powerful serve. "Playing on the court can get very nerve-wracking, because of everyone watching," said Ditmore.

RUN IT

Right in step with his competition, freshman Benjamin Bravo races at Green Hill Park. The cross country team hosted Knights Crossing at Green Hill park on September 11. Bravo placed 131st out of 315 athletes in his race. "This cross country season was a journey from the beginning of training to the end. The team is a great group of people, we're like family," Bravo said. With the end in sight, sophomore Siena Iademarco pushes herself at Knights Crossing. Iademarco placed 71st out of 248 athletes in her race, running a 21:18.60 in the 5K. "Running is a very challenging sport, it pushes you not only physically but also mentally," Iademarco said.

I started my recycling business in October of 2018.

I pick up recycling for my neighbors every week. At the beginning, I gave them a bin and lined it with a trash bag. I then taught them basic stuff about recycling. Every week, I go around to take their trash bags and replace them. I then cycle through them. My business has been really successful. I think a lot of people have gained important knowledge about recycling and our environment. Recycling is such an important thing for people to be aware of. A lot of people neglect recycling because of the hassle, so the fact that I can take the responsibility for myself and do it for others is the reason why my business works so well.

My business started out as just watching a bunch of YouTube videos about different forms of energy and our environment. I realized the vast amount of trash on our planet and it was concerning. The goal for me is more than just getting trash out of landfills. The more important thing is not having to produce it again. It's a common misconception. Most people have the idea that recycling is solely about the landfills, but most of the problem is within production. The one thing that sticks out in my mind from when I originally made the decision to start all of this, is that I was pulling out of an Ace Hardware store. I don't know what it was, but I just thought, "I should do this."

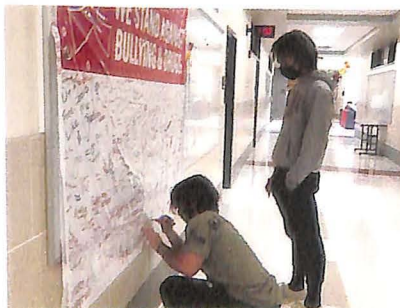

My business really isn't difficult. I spend probably four hours a week on it. The hardest part at this point is remembering to do it. It's not complicated. It's just about having the motivation to keep going.

I have many upcoming plans for my business. I'd love to expand it in the future. I would say the end goal is probably to sell clients to a bigger recycling business in Roanoke. My hope is that Roanoke County will eventually start providing a service and more people will start recycling. There's only so much you can do as one person, so the idea is contributing until it expands on a bigger scale.

As told by freshman Noah Wright

Acts of Service

Students and staff support causes close to their hearts

Pledging to be drug free, junior Matthew Chapman signs the Red Ribbon Week poster. "I enjoyed seeing everyone dress up and participate in Red Ribbon Week was really cool," Chapman said.

In support of the Maguire family, faculty and staff pose in the shape of a W. The school raised $3,600 for Mr. Tommy Maguire's son, Wyatt, via the American Heart Association.

Taking Action

MAKE SOME Noise

Creative themes and loud leaders in the student section brought new school spirit to the Castle. Having the student section packed and roaring from the front to the back of the stands kept the students excited for every game. Always at the front of the stands were the student section leaders: seniors Grayson Snyder, Thomas Dinsmore and Aiden Dellinger. They led the crowd in chants and kept the energy up.

content by s.manico and l.swanson

During her last homecoming game, senior Kailyn Hardy cheers on the football team. "My favorite part about the student section is that these are special memories of our entire class that will forever be special to each and every senior, as well as the energy that comes along with supporting our school and that's something you can't share with anyone else," Hardy said.

Senior Grayson Snyder was one of the student section leaders. Snyder's role in the student section was to get the crowd excited and support the teams. Her favorite thing to do was lead the crowd. "Although there is some tough competition, I think the football team is doing well," Snyder said.

All in the Details

Showing off her neon face paint, sophomore Emma Sexton is ready for the first game of the season. At the game against Hidden Valley, the student section dressed up for a blackout and neon theme. "It was the first game since Covid, so I was especially excited to dress up for the first time," said Sexton.

producing CREATIVITY

Student artists display their work

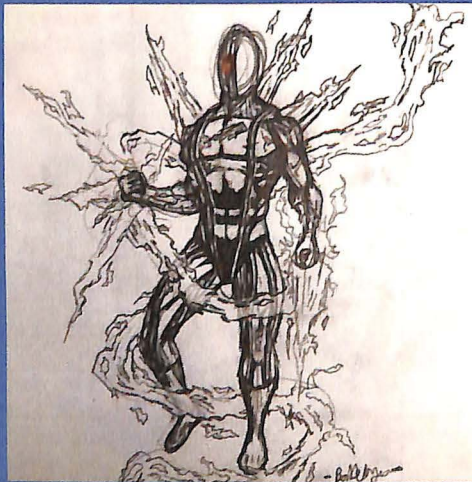

Isabella Poms, 12

"I've been doing art ever since I was really little, four or five years old at least. It has definitely changed me as a person. It's taught me to look at things from multiple perspectives and that not everything has to be beautiful to mean something. I do a lot of statement art and character design. My go-to medium is a mechanical pencil and a blending stump. I'm inspired by Timothy Beloved. I would probably do tattooing as a side job."

Ben Dellinger, 10

"I started drawing at a very young age with just crayons and colored pencils. My favorite medium is regular pencils and I draw people. David Finch is my favorite artist who has inspired my work. I don't need a career in art, but if I did it would be graphic design."

Bradley Looney, 12

"I started doing art when I was very little. My grandma always made sure I had plenty of art supplies at a young age. So, I have always been doing art. My favorite medium would have to be oil. I love how easy it is to paint with and how it gives art dimension. I love drawing portraits and the human form. An artist that inspires me is Claude Monet. I love the impressionistic style and the colors he used to capture light and mood. I'm not really sure if I want a career in art, but I think it would be an amazing thing. I'd love to work in a larger city with a team of artists. Maybe as an architect or an art director."

Lauren Hoffman, 9

"I've been creating art for almost my entire life on my own, but I began gifted art in fifth grade. I recently discontinued it because I enjoy doing pieces whenever I have the time to do them on my own. Art has helped me see different perspectives, although I like to focus on a couple specific things. I love seeing how people express themselves. My favorite medium is using graphite pencils to do black and white portraits and realistic still-life images. I don't typically follow one specific artist, but I take after artists who focus on realistic works such as Diego Fazio or Paul Cadden. I enjoy art quite a lot, but do not intend to enter an art career when I am older. I will always continue to draw, however it's more of a hobby than a serious pursuit." content and photos by a. giannini

Wrestling and basketball teams face challenges and successes together

Working hard on the mat, sophomore Brandon Noell faces his opponent. Noell went on to win at the Big Orange Classic hosted by William Byrd High School. "When I'm in the middle of a match, all I think about is that I better not lose. After a hard match, I just want Chick-fil-A Chick-n-Minis," Noell said.

In the air, senior Tanner Kennedy goes for a three. The Knights played the Titans of Hidden Valley and defeated them 71-30 on February 10. "As I prepare for a shot, I think positively and picture the ball going through the net," Kennedy said.

With eyes on the basket, Owyn Dawyot gets some pre-game shots in with the team. "Playing for Cave Spring is unlike anything I've ever experienced before. It feels as though the whole community is pulling for me to succeed. The support is amazing," Dawyot said.

Lining up, sophomore Isabella Cavicchio shoots a free throw. "I was moved up to varsity this season. It's definitely more difficult, but I'm glad I get to play up," Cavicchio said.

Get Your Head in the Game

With arms locked, freshmen Cameron Noell and Davis Henrietze hand fight at practice. "I lost a lot of experience during Covid but this season has been a great opportunity to get better," Henrietze said.

Communicating with his teammate, junior Stark Jones is open for a pass. Jones started playing basketball when he was six years old. "Our team is a great team to be a part of, because I love joking and laughing with my teammates," Jones said.

PUSHING the PACE

Swim and indoor track reach new speeds

With a strong stroke, junior Claire Henritze breaststrokes to the finish line. On February 4, the swim team competed at regionals. "Perseverance is defiantly a big aspect to succeed in this sport. Sometimes it's 9 pm and you have to get into the freezing water but once you start pushing yourself, it feels so good," Henritze said.

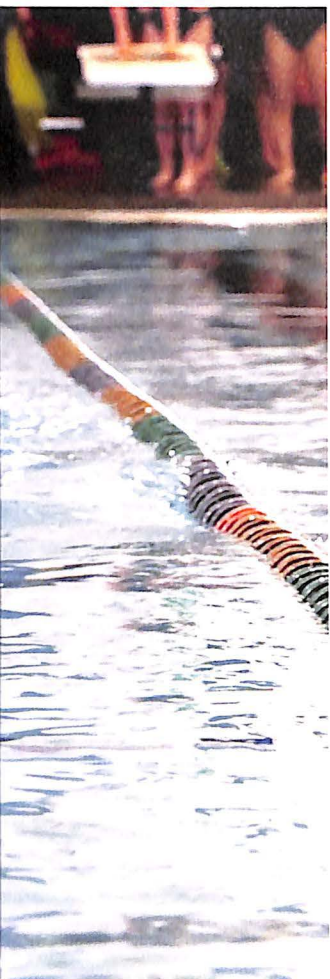

On his block, freshman Colton Allran gets in position to dive into the water. "Swimming can be challenging to keep up with sometimes, it takes lots of commitment," Allran said.

Taking her mark, senior Alicia Carvalho is set to start her race. Carvalho has been swimming competitively since she was four years old. "I started rec swim and then I joined the school team freshman year along with a lot of my friends," Carvalho said.

BACK ON TRACK

THE LAST RUN

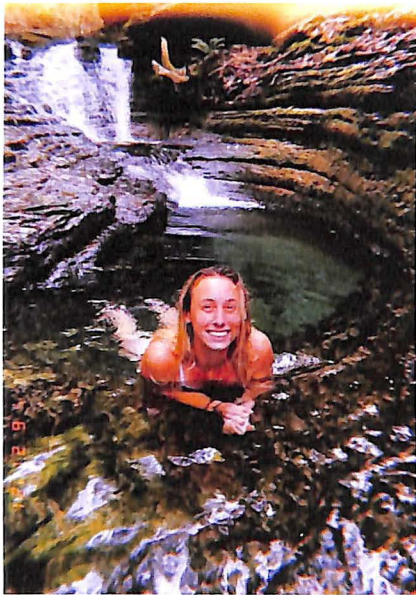

Pushing the pace, senior Jessica Palisca sprints to the finish line after running the fourth leg in the girls' 4000m DMR relay. Palisca regained ground for the team by running a 1600m. The indoor track team traveled to Northside High School to compete in the Winter Relay Meet on February 7. As a senior, this was Palisca's final high school indoor track season. However, she plans on running for Liberty University in the fall. She has not only committed to run for the school's track team, but also their cross country team. "My experience in running for Cave has been a 10/10, because we have the best coaches in the world. It will be bittersweet leaving this amazing program," Palisca said. content by s.manico and J.swanson

Laying in the water, senior Jessica Palisca relaxes in Devil's Bathtub off the Devil's Fork Loop hiking trail. "I love spending my days outdoors and going camping and tanning," Palisca said.

Gazing over the valley, sophomore John Chick takes a rest at the plateau of Sharp Top. Sharp Top is a 3.3 mile hike in Bedford. "My favorite hike is Devil's Marble Yard," Chick said.

Embracing each other, sophomores Adelaine Legault and Emma Sexton admire the beach views. The pair spent a week at Holden Beach during the summer. "My favorite part of the trip was seeing the beautiful sunset and warm weather," LeGault said.

Winter dance lets students let loose

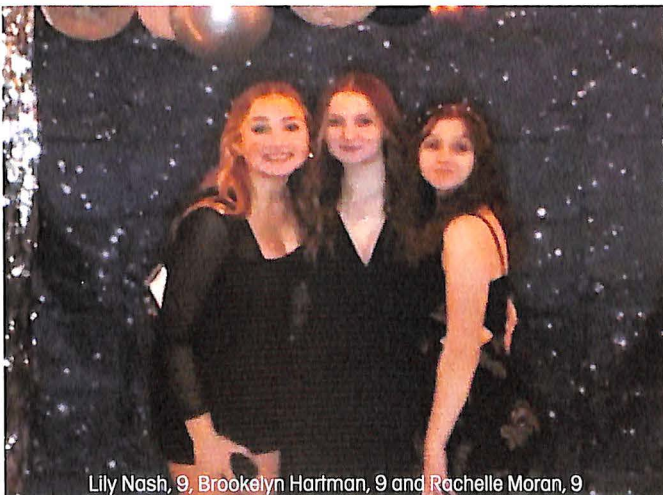

The winter semi-formal dance was held on February 5. The Starry Knight-themed dance was planned and put on by the Parent Teacher Student Organization. There was a photo booth for the students to take pictures at and a DJ that played music for everyone to dance to. The dance turned out to be an huge success, selling over 400 tickets. content by c.tribble, s.manico

Under the lights, sophomores Marly Metro and Gabriel Kirk dance together at the winter formal. "I thought that the dance was really fun, it was a great opportunity to have a good time and get to know your classmates better outside of school. The set up was nice and not crowded, it was perfect for the amount of people there. There were times to have fun and dance with your friends but you could also have a nice dance with your date," Metro said.

This year, I launched my Christian clothing line.

My store has a variety of Christian designs on sweatshirts, hoodies and jewelry. I created my store because I wanted clothes that covered my stomach but were still cute. My parents advised me to try it out to see how successful it would be.

I don't have any of my shirts in inventory because I use drop shipping. Drop shipping means whenever someone buys a shirt off my website, the order goes straight to a company called Printful. Printful makes all of my products and puts the designs on them, then sends it straight to the customer.

I haven't wanted to do this for long. I thought of it a couple of months ago, but didn't start it until recently. I want to help other teenage girls find cute clothes that cover their stomach. I have nothing against people that wear crop tops or like them, but I don't prefer them. My main goal with my clothing line was to give people a comfortable, affordable and cute option that shows off Christianity.

As my business progresses, I would love to add more designs and clothing, as well as taking in opinions and feedback to improve my business in the long run. Currently my most popular item is my "faith over fear" merchandise.

I want my business to grow, but still stay local and small. If it does get great success, I will definitely continue to pursue it as long as I can. The money from my business goes into savings for the future.

HOW WE Celebrate

Holiday festivities merge learning and fun

Classes, clubs and individual students participated in holiday celebrations from a variety of cultures. Language classes shared traditional foods. Science classes put up subject-specific decorations. Finding so many different ways to celebrate created a sense of unity within the student body. content by i. cox, a. giannini

and b. mardian

Sampling new dishes, sophomores Caroline Haggett and Santiago Rodriguez try traditional Latin food. The Latin classes celebrated the holiday Saturnalia by bringing in food and sharing with the class. "My favorite part of celebrating Saturnalia was trying all the different food," Haggett said.

how do YOU celebrate?

Sophomore Uzair Sheikh celebrates the Islamic holiday Eid al-Fitr. Muslims across the world celebrate Eid on a date determined by the Islamic lunar calendar. During the holiday, Sheikh followed traditions like prayers at 8:00. "I enjoy eating the food for Eid al-Fitr such as chicken, lamb or curry. I love making memories over Eid with my friends and family," Sheikh said.

Parking at the Castle

The school parking lot is filled with a diverse range of cars. From jacked up trucks to unique convertibles, Knights show out when it comes to the parking lot. Not only do we have an array of rides, but the parking lot is full of cars with their own unique names. Jessie, Mousy and Candice are just a few of our car characters that pull up in the mornings before school. content by t. hilovsky and s. manico

RIDING IN STYLE

Sophomore Adelaine LeGault drives a 2001 Land Rover Discovery. "I love driving it because I like being able to go off-roading and I always get compliments about it wherever I go. I'm not sure what my dream car would be, but probably a newer version of a Land Rover," LeGault said.

Junior Landon Altizer's car is a 2015 Mazda Miata Club. "I like it because it is small and quick and the convertible is a nice feature to have for summer and the nicer weather. My dream car though would have to be a Dodge Hellcat Charger with a wide body kit," Altizer said.

In the spirit of Valentine's Day, sophomores Sarah Cleveland and Ava Amos help run the FCCLA Candy Gram fundraiser. During the week prior to Valentine's Day, the club sold Candy Grams for students to purchase for their friends, significant others or teachers. The proceeds went to Mr. Tommy Maguire's son, Wyatt, who is affected by a heart condition. "I enjoyed the Candy Grams because it is a great way to tell your friends you love them and it was a great fundraiser for Mr. Maguire's son," Cleveland said.

Searching for a pass, sophomore and captain Lillian Swanson sprints up the field. On March 8, the girls' lacrosse team traveled to Christiansburg to take on the Blue Demons. The Knights came out on top with a score of 15-0. Swanson contributed three goals and five assists during the game. "Winning is the best feeling because after a game it's so rewarding knowing that your team's hard work paid off," Swanson said.

Junior Riley Black serves as a midfielder for the boys' lacrosse team. "I want to be the best I can be for myself and my team," Black said. Along with the rest of his team, he was striving for a positive record for the spring season.

With eyes on the ball, sophomore Samantha Manico defends the goal from the Blue Demons of Christiansburg. The Knights defeated Christiansburg on March 8. Manico contributed a goal and two assists to the team as well as having two turnovers during the game. "Winning our first scrimmage was a great way to start off our season. It left the team with high spirits and big goals," Manico said. Setting up, junior Morgan Allardi prepares to take the draw. Out of the 15 draws during the game against Christiansburg, the Knights won all but one.

Winding up, junior Charles Gilroy aims for the goal. On March 2, the boys' lacrosse team took on North Cross School for the first scrimmage of the season. Out of the eight goals the Knights had, Gilroy scored two. "My number one goal for this season is for the team to have a positive record," Gilroy said.

Getting on his toes, sophomore Hayes Reger prepares to block a shot from his teammate at practice. Reger has been a goalie for eight years. "When I get in the goal, I get a rush through my body because I never know what to expect out of an opponent," Reger said.

In the air, freshman Wyatt Hayden attempts to save the ball. "I loved playing with the team and getting to know the people," Hayden said.

Eyes on the ball, sophomore Gabrielle Holohan takes a free kick. "Everyone on this team is devoted to becoming their best. The unfailing effort, kindness and encouragement from my teammates is one reason why the girls' soccer program is so great," Holohan said.

Focused on the ball, junior Matthew Chapman dribbles the ball down the field. The Knights defeated Franklin County with a final score of 4-0. "I've built many strong relationships with my teammates through soccer," Chapman said.

With his leg extended, junior Holden Blanton takes a shot on goal against Franklin County. "I have really great teammates that push me to their standards," Blanton said.

Hitting them with a fastball, junior Trey Ludy throws the first pitch of the season. "I am excited because we have a lot of upperclassmen on the team. Our ultimate goal is to make it all the way to states," Ludy said.

Throwing the ball back to the pitcher, sophomore Sofia Deleon catches for the varsity softball team. "I started travel softball when I was really young, but I have been a catcher for seven years. The hardest part of being a catcher is having to control the game and keep the team centered. Sometimes the pitcher can start rushing, so I have to make sure that we stay in sync and stay calm," Deleon said.

With one foot on the base, junior Sydney Smith forces an out. The first scrimmage for the varsity softball team was on March 5. Although they lost, the girls put up a hard fight.

Getting his first catch of the season, junior Jack Urgo starts as catcher for the varsity baseball team. "I have been a catcher since I was ten years old. It can be difficult sometimes, but I enjoy the position. As a catcher you can't let anything get past you, so the hardest part is just getting your body in front of everything. Also, you're always squatting which can get tiring," Urgo said.

I lived in Puerto Ordaz, Venezuela for the first nine years of my life.

My family eventually decided to move to America for better opportunities. At first, I moved to Florida. Florida is a lot bigger than Roanoke. After I lived in Florida, I moved to Texas. Texas was a lot more similar to Roanoke. I enjoyed where I lived in Texas because there was a Walmart close by. I liked walking around Walmart.

Life in America is definitely very different from Venezuela. People are a bit less open here. In Venezuela, people are more chill and warmer. People invite strangers over to their house and it is normal.

The thing I miss the most about my hometown are the food carts, kiosks and markets. I also miss my family. I especially miss my family still living in my hometown. I haven't been able to visit them since I moved.

Since moving to America, my perspective has changed. It is less like a fairytale. Before moving to America, I had an idealized dream of what America would be. After, I realized it is not anything like what I pictured.

America is still cool, but it is now more of a reality instead of a dream.

About the Organizations

Key Club

Key Club is a national, student-led organization that focuses on service and leadership. Sponsored by Mrs. Anne Houston, the club allows students to lead through serving their community.

Help Save the Next Girl

Help Save the Next Girl is a national organization that began locally in honor of Morgan Dana Harrington, a 20-year-old Virginia Tech student who was abducted and murdered in 2009. Sponsored by Mrs. Sara Cann, Mrs. Ann Cranwell, Mrs. Amy Leonard and Mrs. Courtney Noell, the club empowers girls to protect themselves. They also focus on media outreach and improving safety through education. content by n. jain Marching together, members of Help Save the Next Girl spread the word about their club. On September 17, the club marched in the homecoming parade alongside other groups to advertise Help Save the Next Girl to the community. "The best part of marching in the parade was getting to raise awareness and give little kids candy," said freshman Alannah Vest.

Adding some service to Valentine's Day, members of Key Club make valentines for veterans. "I hope the valentines put some smiles on our veterans' faces," sophomore Elise Moseley said.

Pulling up weeds, Key Club sponsor Mrs. Anne Houston and senior Lauren Pennington work to improve the school. The school beautification day, which the club hosted on October 1 and again on March 2, was just one of the many initiatives Key Club took on to better the community.

Checking out at Walmart, senior Lauren Fradette purchases toys for the holiday shopping event hosted by the Key Club in partnership with the Kiwanis. Members shopped for gifts for children in need.

Eco Club President

Schopf was one of the founding members of Eco Club. The club began as an idea to get recycling started in school. "It's been great doing good things with good people," Schopf said.

Crafting for a cause, senior Grace Reed paints a recycling box for Eco Club's project which allowed students to recycle in classrooms. "I joined Eco Club because I wanted to encourage others to develop eco-friendly habits. Preserving and protecting the planet is important for our future and a huge first step starts with our school," Reed said.

Leading the conversation, senior Liam Schopf discusses issues with seniors Elizabeth Moore, Caroline Moore and Hannah Allder. "Eco Club is fun because I've gotten to meet a lot of new people and clear my conscience by helping prevent waste from going to landfill," Schopf said.

About the Organizations

Eco Club

Eco Club was founded in order to educate students and plan fun experiences to help make the world a better place. Eco Club created opportunities to volunteer in the community and made recycling available at school again. Recycling was a huge focus for the club and students could see their impact by finding a decorated paper recycling box in each classroom.

For the past three years, I've had the great fortune of being the manager for basketball teams that have won multiple championships.

During this time, I've been able to see Coach Gruse's impact on me and other players on the team. I've also gotten to see the coaching excellence of the Cave Spring basketball coaches for three years. Seeing the positive effect that these coaches have on their players made me realize that I could also possibly make a positive impact on others. With this in mind, I offered to coach recreational sports for the Cave Spring Recreation Club.

I was able to coach a flag football team in the fall and a basketball team in the winter. Before I coached these sports, I played them for fun when I was younger, but then I aged out of what the recreation club offered.

When I first started coaching flag football, I had little to no idea what to expect. I got through the first few practices and knew that this is what I wanted to do. I knew we were going to have a fun time as a team. I was not expecting the kids to pay attention as much as they did. We finished the flag football season with a record of 6-2, which as a first-time coach I thought was pretty good. Once that season was over, I knew I wanted to coach the sport that I've played ever since I could remember, which is basketball.

I coached a 12U basketball team with my friend, Ayden Rinn, and my dad. We ended up winning our first game by a score of 34-22. As a coach, to see what you teach these kids actually work in a game and get you a win is possibly the best feeling in the world. I was happy with our winning season of 5-3.

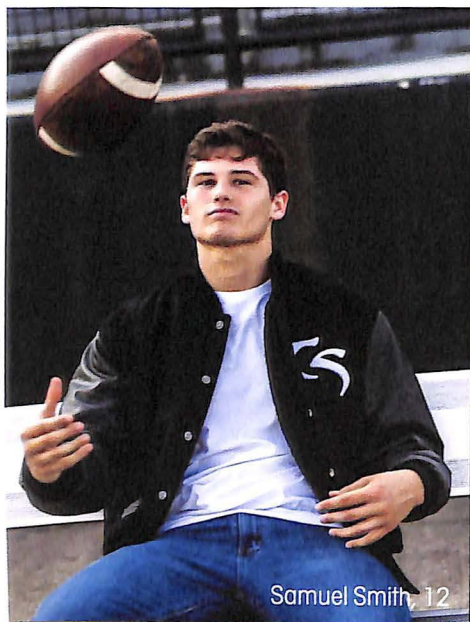

I enjoy coaching because I get to help players improve. Watching your players grow over the season and trying to be a positive influence is a very rewarding experience.

"I'm shocked I've gotten this far and I'm proud of the new journey I'm creating," Miller said.

Senior Bryce Cooper committed to Virginia Military Institute for baseball. He has played baseball for 15 years. "While college makes me nervous, the changes of the past few years have prepared me for any curve balls thrown at me," Cooper said.

Senior Connor Woods chose to attend Lees-McRae for swimming. "I feel confident in my choice and ready to jump into the college world. I think swimming is underappreciated and I hope that will change," Woods said.

A Home Away from Home

"I will be attending Virginia Tech in the fall. I'm really excited for this new experience mostly because of how it will expand my knowledge of the fields I'm interested in. I'm majoring in environmental policy and planning which is basically creating more sustainable communities and urban development, which are things I'm extremely interested in. I was fortunate enough to receive a scholarship. It's a program through the Honors College where they pick 40 people from select majors to work on multidisciplinary problems. This scholarship pays my full tuition and a $2,500 deposit for books and things like that. I also get to stay in the honors dorms and am granted access to a workshop space and select labs that I would not be allowed to access otherwise. I am extremely grateful for the opportunity and I'm excited to start a new adventure as I enter my adult life."

As told by senior Nick Cavicchio

I have always wanted to be an exchange student in America.

It has always been one of my biggest dreams. At first it felt unrealistic, but I never gave up on my dream of becoming an exchange student. Even though becoming an exchange student was a difficult journey, I always tried to be positive.

I wanted to come to the US because I wanted to improve my English skills. I also wanted to make friends that live in another country. Although I miss my family and home country, I have made many close friends. I have become especially close with my host family. They are like my second family.

The best part about being an exchange student is sharing different cultures with each other. For instance, we don't celebrate Thanksgiving in Germany. Instead, we celebrate things like "Carnival" and "Schuetzenfest." I have enjoyed experiencing different American culture and sharing mine with my new friends.

American school is different from German school. I would say it's so much easier in America than it is in Germany. I really like that American high schools focus a lot on sports. In Germany, we focus more on studying. Unfortunately, we don't have school sports and school spirit in Germany. That was one of the reasons why I wanted to come here.

In my first week of school, the coaches gave me the chance to try out for the cheerleading team. With a lot of practice, I made it on the team. The first game I cheered for was the most emotional day in my entire exchange year. I was standing on a football field! Sounds boring for Americans, but it's a big deal for foreign people. As an international, you only get to see the "school spirit" at the Friday night games in Netflix movies or shows. It was like being in a movie.

All in all, I would say: An exchange year is not a year in a life. It's a life in a year.

BEHIND the SCENES

How a yearbook gets made

ASSEMBLY:

Volume 66 of ACCOLADE was printed by Herff Jones Inc. in Edwardsville, Kansas. The theme was "Knights, Camera, ACTION." The inspiration for the theme was to allow us to press play on an Oscar-worthy school year after being on pause with trailers and Covid-19. The 13 students in the yearbook class produced the 184-page book using eDesign. The binding was Smyth sewn and squarebacked. The four-color litho cover was printed on Permacote material. UV gloss coating and anti-scuff matte lamination applications/processes were applied. The school-designed endsheets were printed in 4-color on Vibracolor White VC 01 stock. The paper stock was 100# matte paper of a 9 x 12 format. The fonts belonged to Livingston and Avalon families. HJ representative was Olivia Nicholson, and the customer service adviser was Cait Hauck. Portraits, team and club photos were by Lifetouch.

SPECIAL THANKS:

Olivia Nicholson: You're the best yearbook rep on the planet and no one can tell me otherwise. Thank you for sticking with us through a "reset" year where everything was new and confusing. You're the greatest and we 1000% could not have done this without you!

Cait Hauck: Thank you for dealing with all our page re-submissions and sending us reminders of deadlines (which we definitely needed). You're the glue that holds the process together!

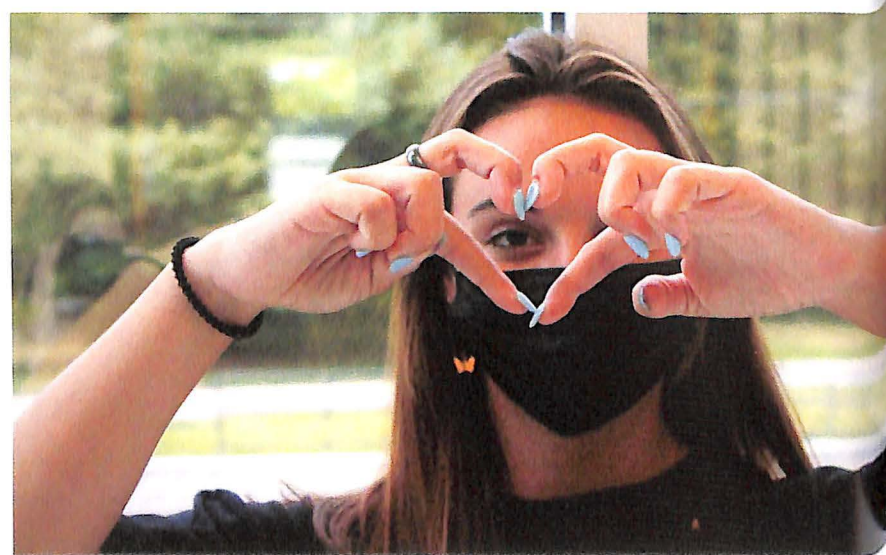

Mrs. Gabriella Weston: Thank you for being our money expert! You made my life so much easier this year just by being so dang good at your job. I appreciate you so much!

Mrs. Deeds, Mr. Parker, Mr. Hall and Mr. Noell: Thank you for trusting and supporting us! We are lucky to have you on our team.

Mrs. Chrystal Shawn: Our index queen! Thank you for being the wisest former yearbook adviser ever. It was so helpful to have you in the building to turn to with all our questions. Thank you so much!

Jenny Atkinson: Thank you for being our go-to photo extraordinaire. This was a challenging year, but you were always there for us to help with any challenges we experienced. Thank you!

Sam and Ava: You two are the best editors an adviser could hope for! Thank you for being so wonderful, enthusiastic, creative and much more organized than me. Can't wait to see how the yearbook continues to grow!

Meet the Staff

"Whether it's running around Bogle taking photos, spending hours on eDesign, or laughing at senior quotes, I've loved every second of this year."

"My most noteworthy memory was James running around with a box on his head."

Ms. Laine Brummell
yearbook adviser

"What makes yearbook so special are the staffers. You won't find a more creative, funny, dedicated group of kids anywhere else."

Lillian Swanson
copy editor

"Yearbook, unlike my other classes is, a class I look forward to."

India Cox

"Yearbook has shown me that a steady pace, an eased mind and a bean bag chair is a great productive trio."

Taylor Hilovsky
photography editor

"I love photography, so working on the yearbook was the perfect fit."

James Snyder
interview coordinator

"We've had a lot of great memories and I've gotten to work with a lot of amazing people."

Fight Hard, Win Together

The competition cheer team won their fourth state championship title. The team also had three athletes be named to the VHSL All-State Cheer Team in seniors Lauren Fradette, Abigail Holbrook and Burkley Nichols. "As a senior, winning at states was the perfect close to the book of my cheerleading career after first winning when I was just a freshman," Holbrook said.

A New Kind of Celebration

Having a homecoming dance has always been a tradition for the Knights, but difficult circumstances did not allow for a dance. Instead, the administration planned an outdoor festival in the place of an indoor dance. This made for a safe and fun alternative for all students. The festival included inflatable games, music, a dance floor and a variety of food.

Lights Out

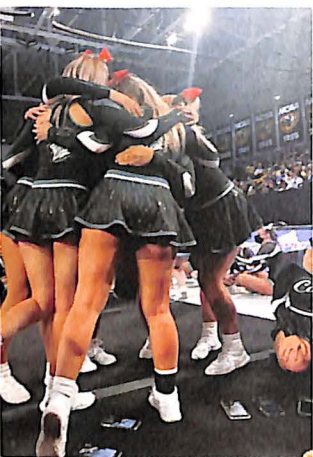

On pajama day during Red Ribbon Week, there was a power outage shortly after school started. This forced all the students right back on the buses and into their cars to go home for the day. "As soon as I got home, I went back to bed. It was a good thing I was already in my PJs," sophomore Wyatt Smith said.

The competition cheer team practices year round to prepare for the state championship. "The coaches and team have high expectations that force us to keep improving," senior Burkley Nichols said. During the season, the Knights went undefeated, earning a 6-0 record. Not only did the team go undefeated, but they also kept an eight-year regional championship title alive.

Fight to the Finish

In Richmond, the Knights took on Petersburg High School for the VHSL Class 3 State Championship. After a close game, the Knights came out on top with a final score of 76-75. Senior Owyn Dawyot scored 29 points, including the game-winning free throw with six seconds remaining. The team was able to find some closure after an abrupt end to the 2020 season when the championship game was canceled.

Racing for Gold

The four by two relay team consisting of junior Aubrey Hertzberg, senior Idaraesit Ndem, sophomore Laine Bennett and junior Saniya Tolliver earned first place at the VHSL 3A State Championship hosted at Liberty College. The relay team went into the state meet seeded at sixth place, but ending up running a personal record of 1:50.87, earning them first place.

Breaking Records

Following in her big sister's footsteps, junior Ava Muzzy broke the state 100m breaststroke record. Ava's older sister, Emma Muzzy, had previously held the VHSL Class 3 record for the 100m breaststroke since 2017 before Ava swam a faster time of 1:02.95. Along with breaking the record, Ava also became a state champion, winning the 200 IM and 100m breaststroke.

Buzzer Beater

Senior Bryce Cooper scored the winning shot of the state semi-finals just before the buzzer sounded. Before his shot, the game was tied 56-56. Ending the game 58-56 advanced the Knights to the state finals at VCU.

Taking Care of BUSINESS

Senior Aiden Dellinger decided to open his own detailing business over the last year. His business goes by @pristineautodetailva on Instagram. He transforms dirty cars into squeaky clean cars that look brand new. Aiden took his first detailing job at 15 years old and he said, "I saw the opportunity to make a ton more money than my previous job and loved the idea of being independent." He wishes he knew "how important customer service was compared to other things" before he started his business. Aiden's prices range between $100-$300 per car. His favorite part of the job is the satisfaction of what the car looks like after he's done. content by k. shaywitz and t. hilovskiy in the Spotlight

I have always had so much love and appreciation for acting. I started acting when I was only 4 years old, so it's been a part of my life for as long as I can remember. When I was younger, I used to watch many plays and really enjoy them. My grandma immediately saw my interest in acting and got me involved in the Roanoke Children's Theatre. Even though I started at a young age, acting came very easy to me no matter the role. Acting was not only fun, but also served as a coping mechanism for me. I have dealt with anxiety for a long time and acting has always been an outlet. I get to be someone different and escape myself and my own personal struggles on set.

My favorite show that I was apart of was "Out of the Shadows," which was a suicide prevention show. I had two castmates and one director, so it was very intimate. The show was so moving and I played one of the lead roles. My coolest acting experience was when I was an extra on the show "Dopesick." Since middle school I have thought of acting as my future career choice because I am so passionate about it. I hope to get more professional and to keep enjoying the shows and acting community.

Coworkers to FRIENDS

Brubaker & Shawn

Mrs. Kaitlin Brubaker and Mrs. Chrystal Shawn met at school 2015. Slowly they became close and eventually a tight knit friendship developed. They are together inside their work life and outside. They talk, laugh, and cry together. Mrs. Shawn said, “Everyone needs someone like Mrs. Brubaker where they work!”

Brummell & McDonagh

Ms. Laine Brummell and Ms. Megan McDonagh first became friends during teacher work week. Their rooms are joined by the yearbook room, so it was easy to stop by and chat. Ms. McDonagh’s favorite thing about Ms. Brummell is that they are “on the same wavelength” and have the “same teaching style.” content by s. manico

Go do great things my girl! Love mom & dad

Erica Lynn Monday West

I am so grateful to have been blessed with a daughter like you. This is one of many achievements to come. I am so proud of you!
Congratulations! Love Mom

Will Goodman

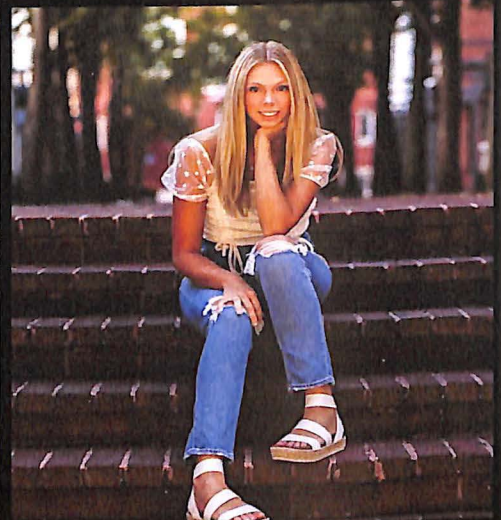

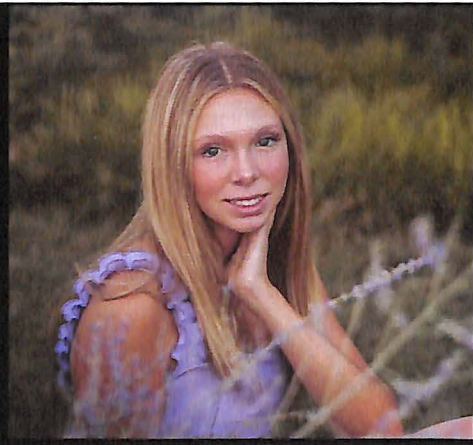

It has been a joy seeing you grow into a responsible young man, watching you set goals for yourself and achieve them with determination. Congratulations! Your future is full of promise, and as your lifelong journey continues, be sure to enjoy the ride. We are eager to see what choices you'll make and the adventures you'll encounter along the way.
Love,
Mom, Patrick, and Grandma

Congratulations to our yearbook senior stars:
Kelsey, Grace, James, Taylor, and Bella!
This year wouldn't have been the same without all the humor and creativity you brought to our staff. We are so proud of you all and can't wait to see what you accomplish out there in the real world.

Love,
Ms. Brummell & the Yearbook Staff

Sarah Earls

We are so incredibly proud of you! As you head into the next chapter of your life we want to remind you of some important things;

- 1 - Always be true to Yourself and listen to your Heart!
- 2 - Remember you are Stronger than you think, When in doubt, remember you are an Earls! Be Tough & know we have your back!
- 3 - You are Smarter than you Know! Don't sell yourself short you can do anything you set your mind to!
- 4 - Live everyday to the fullest and don't take anything for granted! Laugh everyday! Love Everyday!
- 5 - Work Hard! It will pay off!
- 6 - Always hold onto your faith, allow it to grow & don't be afraid to share it with others!

We will always be here for you! Love, Mom, Dad and Josh

THAT'S A WRAP, Knights.

We hope you enjoyed the show.

It was certainly one to remember.

From chemistry lab fire alarms to traveling to states to power outages on pajama day to FINALLY being together in the new building five days a week, it was nothing if not thrilling.

Stay tuned for the sequel, coming soon to a Castle near you.

Hitting their pyramid, the cheer team performs for the crowd at the VHSL State Championship basketball game. The cheer team took home their own VHSL State Championship title on November 6. The girls won in class 3 with a 257.5. "It's so cool to be a part of a tradition and to know that all the hard work we put in all year led to us being state champions," senior Caroline Mills said. photo by lifetouch

Swinging her racket, sophomore Nuela Mebratu prepares for her next match. The girls' tennis team went on to win their first scrimmage. "I joined tennis because I played it before and I enjoy it. I've been doing it for half a year and plan to continue. My favorite part is receiving. The team is very close. It's not toxic or competitive," Mebratu said. photo by lifetouch
